First Love.

"Am I your only and first love?" asked a bright eyed girl as she reclined her classically moulded brow upon the shoulder of her lover.

"No, Lelia, you are not my only, nor my first; I have loved anotherand love that other still."

"Love that other still and better than me! Paul, why do you tell me that?" asked she, raising her blue eye and gazing steadfastly into those of her lover, half in sorrow while her jeweled fingers tightened convulsively upon his then, in the midst of my happiness tell me there was an impassible barrier between us? This night we must part forever! I would not believe this had another told me," and her eyes grew dim with tears.

" Be not too rash, Lelia, but hear me to the end; you love me too dearly to part with me thus. Think you that you could not share my heart with one that I so dearly love?" "Never, Paul, never!"

"You shall, Lelia, and must! Listen for a moment, while I tell you of Carpets! Carpets! my first love, and I am sure you will be willing to share with her, then."

"I will listen, Paul, but will not share your love. I must have all or none; I am selfish in that respect; and who, that loves as I do, is not? Forwho, that loves as I do, is not? ForDowagiae, Sept. 9, 1858. get me, Paul, or forget her forever !"

"Forget her, Lelia? Never. I would not lose one jot of her pure affection for the fairest face that ever bloomed; no, not for the girdle of Venus or a second Helen!"

"Then, Paul, you are lost to me forever; we must part. Farewell to every dream of a bright future. I love you too well, and am too proad to share your love with aught created. O! Paul, you have wronged me deeply," and her exquisitely chisled lips curled with indignant sorrow.

"Stop, Lelia, or you will deeply wrong me also. I met this loved one, as I said before, long years ago, in one of the sweetest, sumnest vales of our broad Illinois; wandered with her, hand in hand, for years besides the sparkling waters of my childhood's here. First, by her smile of exquisits sweetness, she taught my heart that she loved me with unutterable fondness and never have I doubted; my trust in her has been steadtast and fearless; never has her eye looked geolity on me, and will not till the death angel shall dim them for the long sleep. Oht in the still night have I been awakened, as if by the gentle fanning of the see eyes gazing upon me with all the beatic tenderness of a guardian angel over a repenting prodigal and a kisswould fall upon my brow more soothing than the dews of Hebron. The same gentle hand has led me along life's flowery way, and beside its unruffled water and drew the iron from the other.

And I do well remember in my manhood's riper years, when deep sorrow fell upon my soul, and I would fain have drank oblivion from the wine cup's fiery brim, that same dark-eyed woman came, and bade me in the name of God, to shun the fatal snare, and twining her arms around my neck, while her eyes beemed with love's deep inspiration, she poured oil npon the troubled waters; told me of purer hopes and higher aims, and in my ears whispered a golden word that has outwhispered a golden word that has out-

Intermittent Fever, or Fever and Agus temittent Fever, Chill Fever, Dumb Ague, Periodical Headache, or Bilious Headache, and Bilious Fevers, indeed for the whole class of diseases originating in biliary derangement, caused by the Malaria of miasmatic countries. No one remedy is louder called for by the necessities of the American people than a sure and safe cure for Fever and Ague. Such we are now enabled to offer, with a perfect certainty that it will eradicate the disease, and with assurance, founded on proof, that no harm can arise from its use in any quantity.

That which protects from or prevents this disorder must be of immense service in the communities where it prevails. Prevention is better than cure, for the patient escapes the risk which he must run in violent attacks of risk which he must run in violent attacks of this baleful distemper. This "Cure" expels the missinatic poison of Fiver and Ague from the system and prevents the development of the disease, if taken on the first approach of its premonitory symptoms. It is not only the best remedy ever yet discovered for this class of complaints, but also the cheapest. The large quantity we supply for a dollar brings it within the reach of every body; and in bilious districts, where Feven and Ague prevails, every body should have it and use it freely both for cure and protection. It is hoped this price will place it within the It is hoped this price will place it within the reach of all—the poor as well as the rich. A great superiority of this remedy over any other ever discovered for the speedy and cer-tain cure of Intermittents is, that it contains no Quinine or mineral, consequently it produces no quinism or other injurious effects whatever upon the constitution. Those cured by it are left as healthy as if they had never had the disease. Fever and Agueis not alone the consequence of the miasmatic poison. A great variety of disorders arise from its irritation, among which are Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Gout, Headache, Blindness, Toothache, Earache, Catarrh, Asth-Blindness, Toothache, Earache, Catarrh, Asthma, Palpitation, Painful Affection of the Spleen, Hysterics, Pain in the Bowels, Colic, Paralysis, and Derangement of the Stomach, all of which, when originating in this cases, put on the intermittent type, or become periodical. This "Cura" expels the poison from the blood, and consequently cures them all alike. It is an invaluable protection to immigrants and persons travelling or temporarily residing in the malarious districts. If taken occasionally or daily while exposed to the infection, that will be excreted from the system, and cannot accumulate in sufficient quantity and cannot accumulate in sufficient quantity to ripen into disease. Hence it is even more valuable for protection than cure, and few will ever suffer from Intermittents, if they avail themselves of the protection this remedy af-

HARDWARE SPRAGUE & HAWKS.

THE UNITED STATES A New Patent Elevated Oven

ON AN ENTIRELY ORIGINAL PRINCIPLE.

In this valuable invention we do away with all the objections ever made to the elevated Oven. The pipe-flue is placed in front of the oven, in fact forming a part of the oven itself, and by this means we are enabled to regulate the floaking more perfectly than in any other stove which was ever made. We have but one damper to it, which has three wings never liable to get out of order, and is patented. By turning the damper one way we force all the heat and flame under and up in the back of the oven over the top, and thence down in front, until it enters into the flue and passes off the curvature in the bottom of the oven, which requires the heat to descend, and hugs the oven during the circuit. Reversing the same damper, we totally exclude the entire heat from the oven, it all passing into the flue direct, without even reaching the oven. This simple and beautiful arrangement needs, we are certain, no further recommendation from us. The pipe being thus located, the stove can be set close to the wall or side of the room, with a small zinck or tinned board hung on the wall; the pipe being so far from the wall as not to injure it; the stove, so set, will occupy less room than ordinary square or dividing fine stoves.

A number of these Stoves have been sold recently, and have given

HORSE POWERS.

AS made a valuable improvement in Horse Powers, and is manufacturing the same at his Foundry, in Dowagiae, Cass County, Mich.
This Horse Power is designed for eight horses.
It is Simple and Compact in its Construction I
And is so arranged that the working parts of its gearing perform their labor with one-half the heavy strain that is required in other Powers, and therefore being subject to one-half the wear and tear, and one-half the liability of breaking, both of which is very essential to every person compected
